1816 Was Really A Year Without Any Summer

THERE ARE lots of expressions like "it'll be a cold Fourth of July" or something like that to express a likelihood of an impossible thing happening.

But if one lived back in the year 1816, a cold Fourth of July wasn't so funny. It was downright serious. Downright calamitous.

Got a copy of an article in the Casey Daily Reporter which told about that freakish year. Said the item:

Select Girls to Attend State Fair at 4-H Economics Show

The annual Saline County 4-H clubs' home economics show was held Wednesday and six 4-H girls were selected to represent Saline county at the State Fair 4-H show Aug. 16. Two other girls also had their dresses selected to be sent to the state show for exhibit.

"January and February were warm and springlike. March was cold and stormy. Vegetation had gotten well under way in April when real cold weather set in."

"Snow and sleet fell on 17 different days in May. In June there was either frost or snow every day but three. July was cold and frosty. August was worse, for ice formed nearly an inch thick and killed every green thing in the United States."

"In the spring of 1817 corn which had been kept over from 1815 sold for $10 a bushel for seed only"

"January was so mild most people allowed fires to go out . . . by the first day of May the temperature was like winter. The young buds were frozen stiff and ice formed half an inch thick on the ponds and rivers. Corn was killed and corn fields were planted again and again. By the last of May everything had been killed by the cold."

"June was the coldest month ever experienced in this latitude. All fruit was destroyed. Snow fell 10 inches deep in Vermont and on July 5 ice was one-fourth inch thick throughout New England. August proved to be the worst month of all. There was great privation and thousands of people would have perished had it not been for an abundance of game."

"NOTE to the anonymous sender of the letter signed 'A Mother': I know of the case of which you speak and know that it is most deserving. Any money received can be used, I know. But there are many cases where deserving persons are in debt because tragedy struck or because of prolonged illnesses, and it would be hard to draw the line as far as The Register inquiring a public appeal for funds."

In rare instances a public drive might be feasible but developments might be awaited in this instance. If the writer of the letter or groups desired to start collections, that would be fine, and if publicity were desired, it would be given. And if the writer would like to talk to me further about the matter, I would be glad for her to contact me.

Farmers' Price-Cost Ratio Is More Favorable, Gov't Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The well-being of American farmers as a whole went up last month. Their prices increased. Their costs went down.

The Agriculture Department's monthly price report Wednesday showed prices farmers received for crops and livestock crawled up 1 per cent in the month ended July 15. This was due largely to higher prices for livestock, poultry, eggs and dairy products.

At the same time prices paid by farmers for goods, services, interest, taxes and farm wages dropped one-third of 1 per cent.

This caused the parity ratio between prices received and prices paid to rise to 85 per cent. The ratio in mid-June was 82 per cent. In other words farmers were better off last month than the month before.

This means an average of about $1.45 cents a bale in the price support loan rate.

The report showed that the parity price has increased from 36.56 cents per hundredweight in the average price of hogs and 70 cents for beef cattle. Hog prices in July averaged the highest since September, 1954, and beef cattle the highest since February, 1953.

The price report provided the basis for a mandatory boost in the price support rate for 1957-crop cotton.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson announced in February that the support rate would be no less than 28.15 cents a pound for middling 7.8 inch base grade, or 77 per cent of the cotton parity as of the start of the marketing year Aug. 1.

The report showed that the parity price has increased from 36.56 cents a pound last February to 36.96 cents. This could make the new price support rate 28.44 cents.

This means an average of about $1.45 cents a bale in the price support loan rate.

House Group Votes To Restrict Overseas Trials

Senate Approves Defense Funds By Voice Vote

Removes Chances Of Armed Forces Payless Paydays

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate completed belated action on the $33,759,850,000 defense appropriation bill for the fiscal year which began July 1. That removed any chance of payless paydays in the armed forces.

The action was taken by voice vote after the Senate had temporarily sidetracked the civil rights bill, which has blocked consideration of other measures since July 8. Approval of the Agriculture Department appropriation also was scheduled for today.

Both of these departments and a number of other government agencies had no clear-cut authority to spend money after a one-month stopgap spending bill expired Wednesday night. There was no indication of how soon spending authority would be given the other agencies. A new stopgap bill, passed by the House Tuesday, was hung up in the Senate by parliamentary obstacles related to the civil rights bill.

Except for the Small Business Administration, most agencies were expected to be able to find ways to get along for a couple of weeks even if the Senate didn't act.

Acting quickly on another log-jammed item, the Senate also sent to a Senate-House conference committee the foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate agreed to act on the money bills after the White House warned further delay might jeopardize military payrolls.

In its statement the White House said:

"There is now no legal authority to meet the payroll for services rendered for about 1,250,000 civilian employees and about 2,800,000 military personnel."

"Military disbursing officers throughout the world will have no authority to pay servicemen being mustered out of service."

Mrs. Lofton Poole Dies at Eldorado

Mrs. Ella Mae Poole, 73, resident of the Eldorado housing project, died in the Eldorado nursing home at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, following an illness of about two years' duration. She is survived by her husband, Lofton Poole, and her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Reed of Eldorado. There are two grandchildren surviving.

Known affectionately to his friends as the "Old Soldier," stemming from his service in World War I, he had a strong interest in veterans' activities and equally strong in Republican politics.

He had been a resident of Harrisburg all his life, and in addition to his personal interest in politics and veterans' activities, was a business man and a hobbyist farmer, with acreage and a home near Rudement.

The body will lie in state at the Martin funeral chapel in Eldorado, where the funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday. Rev. T. W. Day of the Church of God will officiate and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

Following the Society horse show Friday night, in which there will be nine classes, the fair will wind up Saturday evening with the annual Saline County Beauty Pageant.

Bargain Nights Announced Tonight And Friday at Fair

The Western horse show takes over the center of attraction at the Saline county fair tonight and it'll be a big bargain night for fairgoers.

The fair association announced that admission price to the grounds will be a dollar a carload, that admission will be free to general grandstand seats and that the price for reserved seats will be cut to fifty cents.

This cut-rate deal also will apply to the Society horse show Friday night.

Tonight's Western show will include eight events and will start at 8 p. m. The events are:

Western Equitation for Men;

Western Equitation for Women;

Western Parade; Western Pony

under 52 Inches; Western Pairs;

Western Flag Race; Handy Horse;

Rescue Horse.

Trophies will be awarded first place winners and there will be cash premiums offered through seventh place in the events.

Following the Society horse show Friday night, in which there will be nine classes, the fair will wind up Saturday evening with the annual Saline County Beauty Pageant.

Best — and most enthusiastic — crowd yet at the fair went out Wednesday night to see Jack Kochman's Daredevils. The fine crowd went to see daredevil stunts performed in automobiles and it was not disappointed.

This afternoon and tomorrow afternoon, Kids Days are being held up to 5 p. m. Carnival rides were a dime each to children on these afternoons.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it. Ephesians 5:25. Christ knew the great faults of the church of His day. He overthrew the tables of the money changers and drove them from the temple foyer. But He attended services and never left the church of His day. A very imperfect church is vastly better than none.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Three Career Employees Moved Into Lucrative Posts By Reform Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Three career men, one a state house lawyer for 31 years, have been moved into lucrative state posts under fiscal reform legislation growing out of the Hodge Scandal. They are Paul Hansen, 59, and C. F. Aiken, a 25-year state veteran, both of Springfield and Ted R. Leth, Oak Park, who has been with the State Department of Finance for 14 years.

Hansen came to the State House in the mid-twenties, fresh from graduation from a South Dakota law college. He was employed in the State Legislative Reference Bureau where he has been ever since, until his recent elevation to his new post, superintendent of administrative services in the reorganized finance department. His annual salary will be $13,000, a jump of $5,500.

The new executive who never seemed able to accomplish his ambition to practice law because just as he was ready to make the break from state employment along would come a new pay raise, will supervise state purchasing, printing and publicity. He will have supervision over the state printer, the state purchasing agent and the Division of Department Reports.

Hansen who has served under five governors, endeared himself particularly to Gov. William G. Stratton because of his handling of extradition cases as well as editing the Legislative Reference Bureau's weekly digest which lists the play-by-play activity of the General Assembly when it is in session. The digest has a terrific reading public of attorneys, lobbyists, newsmen and business men.

In addition to supervising purchasing, printing and publicity, Hansen also will have charge of the State of Illinois Building in Chicago and the State Property Control Division, formerly under the state auditor. Aiken will be superintendent of Accounting and Leth will be superintendent of the Budget. All three are under State Finance Director Morton H. Lollingsworth, Joliet.

The personnel moves are the result of the theft and misapplication by former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City, of approximately $2 1/2 million of state funds and for which the former debonair politician is now serving a 12 1/2 year sentence at Menard State Prison. Hodge was convicted of juggling state books and of issuing bad state checks.

Another reform development of the Hodge expose was the increasing of the bond of the state auditor to $500,000 as compared with the $50,000 formerly required. The recent session of the General Assembly boosted it to the half million dollar mark and the new state auditor—Elbert S. Smith, Decatur—already has complied with the new law requiring the larger bond.

Smith who replaced Hodge as the Republican nominee for state auditor in the November, 1956, election, supported the increased bond in the Legislature. A reason for the necessity for a higher bond is shown by the fact that last month the auditor's office handled more than 300,000 state warrants involving paying out more than $150 million.

There are about 80 other languages in which short passages or collections of passages have been published but, since they lack a complete book, they are not customarily counted in the total.

Three complete Bibles were published for the first time last year in Bemba (spoken in North Rhodesia); Nimi Ijo (Nigeria), and Marovo (Solomon Islands).

There still exist some 1,000 languages and dialects which have no written form and in which not even a single book of the Bible is available.

It won't be long before Secre-

Gov. Stratton Grants Plea of Gangster Touhy

SPRINGFIELD, IL (UPI)—Gov. William G. Stratton Wednesday granted a plea of guilty to a sentence of prohibition era gangster Roger Touhy to three years. However, the governor did not disturb Touhy's 99-year sentence for kidnaping.

Touhy is serving consecutively, 80-year sentences for the kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor and a 199-year sentence imposed for breaking out of prison in 1942.

Stratton's action would mean that Touhy should not even start serving the three years for escaping until he had completed the 99-year sentence for kidnaping.

However, Federal District Judge John Barnes, of Chicago, has ruled that Touhy was sent to prison on the kidnap charge on purloined funds.

Touhy therefore, hopes to have the kidnap sentence set aside.

He could then serve the three-year sentence, with time off for good behavior, and be released.

Said Stratton: "I was following the recommendation of the state Pardon and Parole Board in the Touhy case."

The board found, a Stratton aide said, that the sentences imposed on Touhy had been "unduly harsh."

Unless some further action is taken on the 99-year sentence for kidnaping, Touhy could not be released earlier than 1980 for good behavior, until about 1980.

In his petition for executive clemency, Touhy asked only for commutation of the 199-year sentence.

Stratton granted Touhy's plea just one day after he denied a similar appeal by thrill killer Nathan Leopold.

Kaufman 120 Acres

Sells for $24,100

The 120 acre Kaufman farm located in Equality Township near the B. & W. Coal Mine was sold to the highest bidder Saturday at a Master in Chancery sale conducted in the front door of the courthouse.

The sale price was $24,100 paid by Anton Fromm, Wm. Wood served as auctioneer and Charles W. Phillips as attorney in the proceedings. Oil and gas rights on 80 acres were not included.

Rackets Hearing

Witness Links Racketeer to Special Assignment for Union

WASHINGTON — A witness told the Senate Rackets Committee today that Johnny Dio, the racketeer-hoodlum, once worked on a "special assignment" for David Dubinsky's Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The testimony was given by Lester Washburn, who kicked Dio out of the AFL's Auto Workers Union in 1954 but had to quit as his president when the union executive board overruled him.

Dio has been tagged by the committee as a close personal friend of James R. Hoffa, vice president and heir apparent to the giant Teamsters' Dio.

Washburn testified that Dio's assignment for the garment workers was in a Roanoke, Va., plant which had resisted organizing efforts by Dubinsky's international union. This was back in 1950 or 1951, close to the time when Dio first moved into the auto workers, he said.

Later — in 1952 — he complained to Dubinsky about Dio's association with the garment workers, he said.

Earl Patton Gets IPC Post

CHICAGO — City and state officials today welcomed some 50,000 members to the 39th annual convention of the Illinois American Legion.

Gov. William G. Stratton and Mayor Richard J. Daley headed the list of speakers at Orchestra Hall where representatives of 1,100 state Legion posts gathered for the first business meeting of the veteran group.

Today's activities include presentation of the Legion's Americanism awards and Poppy Day scholarships. David Cohler, winner of the Legion's 1957 oratorical contest, will deliver an oration to the group. Cohler, Chicago Heights, graduated from Bloom Township High School.

Department Commander Harold A. Cummins will open the meeting. Other speakers today will be Howard West, U. S. Department of Labor; Veterans Employment Representative in Illinois, and Robert Hewitt, 1957 Governor of Premier Boys State.

Willis Elam, 65, of Near Thompsonville Dies; Rites Saturday

Willis Elam, 65, husband of Flo McClarnon Elam, who lived three miles southwest of Thompsonville, died early this morning in Union hospital in West Frankfort. The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia until time for the funeral which will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Union church southwest of Thompsonville.

Interment will be in the church cemetery.

His survivors are his wife, Flo; two brothers, Arley Elam of Benton and Joe Elam of Nevada, and one sister, Mrs. Bessie Gowski of Benton.

Store Owner Leaves Cash Bequests to All Employees in Will

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. — A department store executive made a point of remembering each of his store's employees with a cash bequest, his will indicated today.

The will of Louis A. Deutsch, vice president and a founder of Myers Brothers Inc., filed for probate, provided that $300 go to each employee with five or more years service; $200 to those with three and less than five years, and $100 each to the remainder.

Deutsch recalled that he got "pretty mad" at Mr. Dubinsky because he wanted Dubinsky to provide some factual basis on which the auto union could expel Dio. Dubinsky, he said, insisted that "he didn't even know John Dio."

The committee also summoned Dio's bodyguard, 240-pound Theodore (Teddy Ray) Rij, for questioning on how Dio got started as a union leader.

Hoffa, Dio Linked.

Rij, 43, a friend and "business associate" of Dio in the garment industry, was indicted with Dio in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

The Riesel trial of Rij and Dio, whose real name is John Dioguardi, was indefinitely postponed because two convicts indicted in the same case suddenly refused to talk. The FBI charged Rij drove the getaway car for the man who hurled acid in the fact of the labor columnist, blinding him for life.

The committee swung into the second day of its complex New York area hearings to retrace in testimony the main charge Riesel made Wednesday: That Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa, now unopposed candidate for president of the giant Teamsters Union, allied himself with Dio and his hoodlums to take over control of Teamsters in New York. Hoffa was recently acquitted of a charge of bribing his way into the files of the Senate committee.

AIR FORCE MARKS HALF CENTURY AS MILITARY ARM

Service Eulogized as Symbol of Strength And Righteousness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Air Force flew high, wide and handsome today in marking the end of its first half century as a military arm.

It was many to claim that the youngest of America's defense forces had become its mightiest.

It men were entrenched in the nation's top military positions. Its money was almost half of the total spent on national defense. Its machines were poking farther and farther into the frontiers of space.

Its wings were a protective cover for the free world and a warning to the Communists not to commit aggression.

Air Force regulars and veterans assembled this morning in Arlington National Cemetery amphitheatre to hear their service eulogized by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, as a symbol of "strength and righteousness in the eye of liberty loving people everywhere."

The golden anniversary memorial service honored the airmen who died in the three wars since the Air Force was born — 302 in World War I, 52,173 in World War II and 1,200 in Korea.

"They were the best of fighters," White said. "But they were not warlike. We honor them in the name of peace."

The 3,000 delegates to the annual Air Force Assn. convention will be lifting glasses tonight to the memory of the Billy Mitchells, Hap Arnold and other air power prophets who showed the air service the high road to success.

Three Air Force memorial dances here are being billed as the biggest celebrations in the capital since the inaugural balls last January.

Dramatic evidence of the Air Force's aerial conquest was made public in connection with the anniversary. The service disclosed that the late Capt. Milburn G. Apt reached a speed of 2,260 miles an hour in the X2 rocket plane last year. That was well over 50 times the speed of the first plane the Air Force received from the Wright Brothers in 1909.

Congressman Hurls 'Liar' Blast At Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) called President Eisenhower "a lousy liar" today.

He hurled the name at the President for denying responsibility for killing the $1,500,000 school construction bill.

Bailey, a chief Democratic sponsor of the measure, also said Eisenhower would be "playing politics in an election year" if he asks Congress next year to approve a school construction bill.

"He had his chance this year," Bailey told a United Press reporter.

Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that despite House defeat of the school bill last week he will offer another school bill next year. Eisenhower also rejected charges by House Democrats that he did not work for the bill this year.

"When he says that the bill's defeat was not his fault," Bailey said, "he's just a lousy liar."

Bailey specifically authorized quotation of his statement.

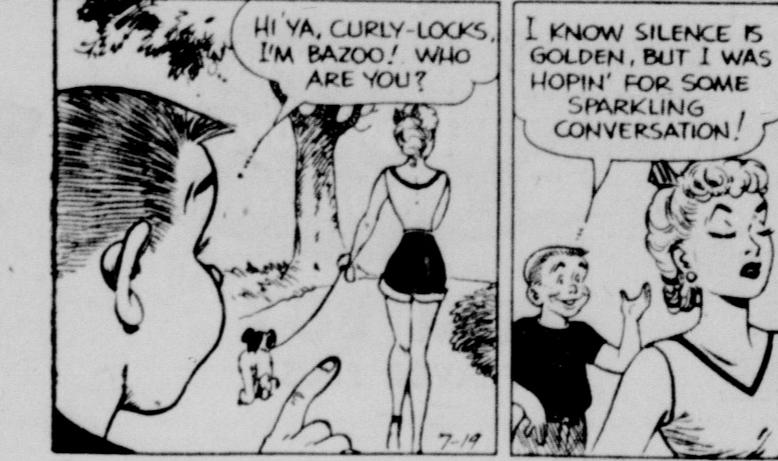

Goodyear Boosts Prices of Tires

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. has announced a 3 per cent increase in tire prices effective today.

Goodyear was the first of the industry's "big five" to settle with the United Rubber Workers union for a 15-cent hourly package wage increase.

The company said the action was necessary "to meet in part recent advances in wages, materials, freight and other operating costs."

Take Care of Air Conditioner

NEW YORK—(UP)—One expert says the average family usually hinders rather than helps the air conditioner do its summertime cooling job.

Normal activities in the home can, and too often do, contribute weather is hot and muggy, he explained.

Nessell offered these suggestions:

1. When you cook on a hot day, always use the kitchen ventilating fan.

2. The automatic clothes dryer should be vented to the outdoors.

3. Iron on a cool day or late in the evening. At these times the cooling system has reserve capacity and can remove this extra heat without difficulty.

4. Filters should be cleaned periodically.

5. Windows should be closed throughout the sweltering season.

6. As the sun shines on the east, south and west sides of the house, keep venetian blinds, shades or draperies drawn.

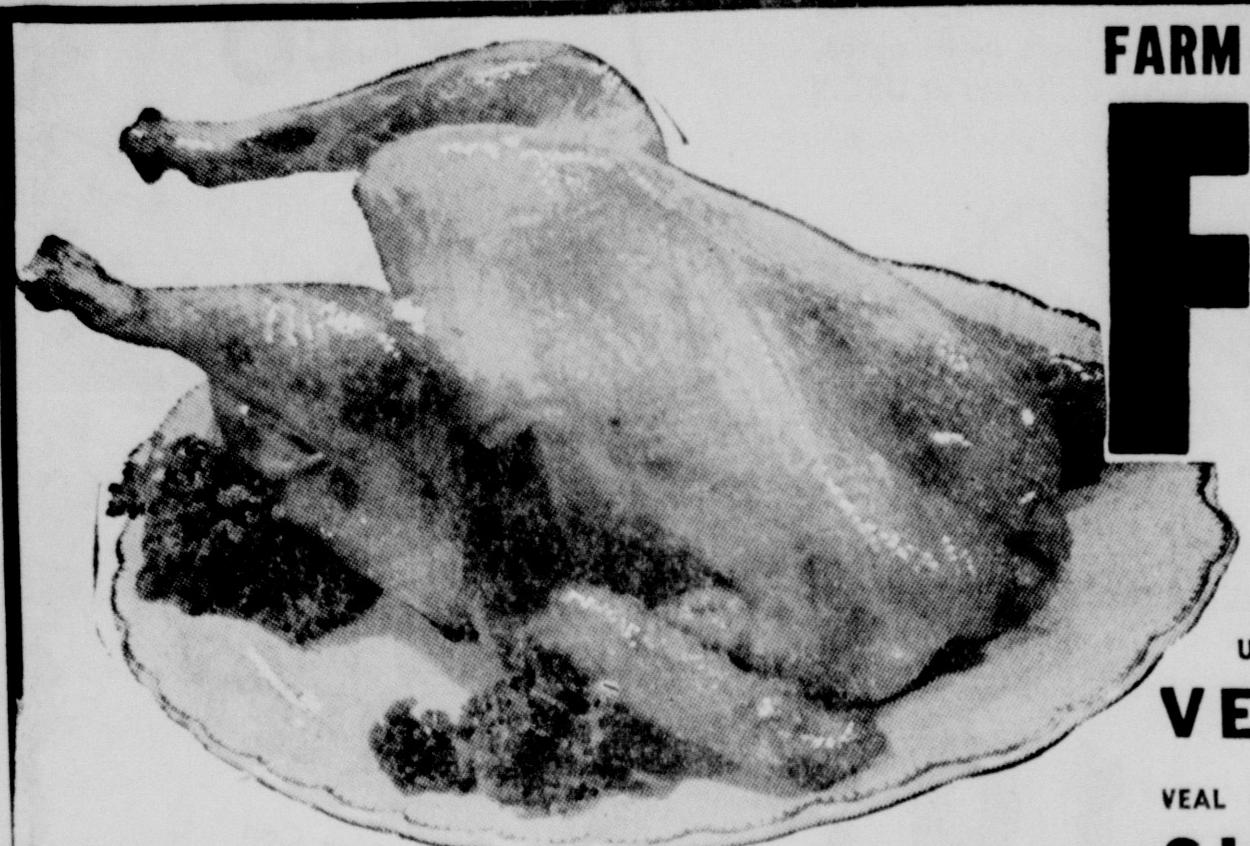

7. Pick a cool day—or at least the coolest part of a warm day—to mop floors, wash furniture or perform other cleaning operations that require water.

James Hoban, native of Ireland, who had resided in Charleston, S. C., and Washington, D. C., designed the White House.

Buhl Wins 13th as Braves Top Pirates, 4-2; Cardinals Keep Pace with 5-1 Victory

By United Press

Bob Buhl, who might be pitching the Chicago White Sox toward a pennant except for a little mistake the Sox made, kept the Milwaukee Braves atop the wild National League flag scramble today and is now their big money pitcher.

Beeble-browed Buhl posted victory No. 13 for the Braves Wednesday night, 4-2, on an eight-hitter over the Pittsburgh Pirates to maintain their half-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the fourth straight win for the hard-throwing right hander and left him second only to the Phillies' Jack Sanford for most victories in the National League.

All this is so much applesauce for the White Sox, who first signed him to a minor league contract in 1947. It developed the signing took place before his class graduated from high school, so the baseball commissioner made him a free agent and this time he signed with the Braves.

Cards Keep Pace

The Braves gave Buhl a 4-0 lead on homers by Red Schoendienst in the third and Johnny Logan in the fifth, plus two unearned runs in the sixth. He missed his fourth shutout of the year when the Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth.

The Cardinals kept pace with a 5-1 victory over the Giants behind Herm Wehmeier and third-place Brooklyn moved within two games of the top by beating Chicago twice, 3-2, and 2-1. Fifth-place Cincinnati beat fourth-place Philadelphia, 6-5, in an 11-inning nighter.

In the AL pennant chase, the New York Yankees increased their league lead to 3 1/2 games by beating their Kansas City "cousins" twice, 2-0 and 5-4. Chicago won a pennant except for a little mistake the Sox made, kept the Milwaukee Braves atop the wild National League flag scramble today and is now their big money pitcher.

Wehmeier scattered seven hits, including Hank Sauer's 14th home run, to beat the Giants as Al Dark led his support with four hits. It was the Cards' fifth consecutive win.

The Dodgers won both their games in the ninth inning. Duke Snider's 25th and 26th homers gave them a 2-2 tie after eight frames of the opener and they won in the ninth with a run on three singles off Bob Rush. Trailing 1-0, they got two runs in the ninth of the nightcap with the help of Don Elston's wild pick-off attempt. Reliever Ed Roebuck was credited with both wins.

Larsen Pitches Two-Hitter

The Redlegs, trailing 5-2, scored three in the last of the ninth to tie, two on Ted Kluszewski's pinch homer, and beat the Phils with an 11th-inning run on Gus Bell's double and Joe Nuxhall's pinch single.

The Yankees made it 16 out of 17 against the A's as Bob Turley hurled a five-hitter in the opener and Don Larsen, with ninth-inning hold, pitched a two-hitter in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle's 28th home featured the first win and Bill Skowron singled home the run that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning of the second.

Larry Doby had four hits for the White Sox and drove in what proved to be the winning run in the ninth inning. Ray Sivers hit his 17th homer in vain for the Senators, who suffered their fourth straight loss.

Ray Narleski, ex-bullpen ace, pitched a four-hitter for Cleveland to notch his third straight complete victory. The Orioles have now played 32 consecutive innings without scoring a run. Gene Woodling's homer and two singles and Bobby Avila's single, double, and triple led his support.

Jim Bunning of Detroit picked up his fifth straight win and 13th of the year with the help of reliever Harry Byrd. Ted Lepcio of Boston and Dave Philley of Detroit homered.

Play Will Begin Next Week in Egyptian Golf Club Tournament

Garde stood still at the door; the room was a small and pleasant one, its walls book-lined, the tall windows shuttered from within. There was a small marble fireplace, now filled with a spread fan of gold-colored paper. The carpet was green and worn. The doctor's desk and leather chair filled most of the floor space. Nan sat on a leather couch. There was one other chair.

Garde came into the room only far enough to close the door behind him. "It is very important, sir," he said gravely, standing tall and strong against the dark wood. Nan watched him closely, her hands still holding her pencil and tablet.

Garde told them briefly of the immediate events. "It has to do with Kurt," he said at once. "Last night some new evidence was—er—dug up. Literally. A bag which the old doctor had entrusted to Valley to keep it away from the police—she had buried it under the hedge. Then, last night, for her own reasons—she dug it up and showed it to me. This morning we took it to Mr. Peredo and then to the county court. I truly believe that now we know the truth of what happened on the night of Ben Laurent's death."

Nan's red-lined tablet slid to the floor with a soft rustle of its pages. Garde looked sharply at her; she was dead-white, and he went swiftly to her side, sat down and took her chilled hands in his, massaged them gently with his warm fingers. She drew a shuddering breath, then leaned against his arm and soon quieted. But he continued to hold her hands—it seemed right for them to be sitting so, and, in spite of the things to be discussed, happiness enveloped them. Garde knew that happiness as right, and complete; he knew that Nan so recognized it.

Mr. Stanfield sat back in his big leather chair to listen; he held his fingertips neatly together; sometimes the palms of his hands were flat upon each other, sometimes they stretched widely apart, the fingers still touching. His mouth was pursed occasionally; his eyes were always thoughtful.

"The things which were in the bag which Dr. Tom gave to Valley," said Garde, "were of such a nature that I feel we can now reconstruct accurately the events of that night of almost a year ago. On that night, it was a Tuesday—the day after Labor Day—Nan here was at home suffering from a cold and reaction from the fight which had taken place down on the pier several nights before. She also was suffering from her knowledge that she must soon go through another painful scene with the man to whom she was engaged."

He glanced at Nan, who nodded. He spoke then directly to Mr. Stanfield. "As a stranger coming into this group of people involved in the tragedy, sir, I have been able to think about the events, and the details, from a somewhat fresh approach."

"For instance, it had occurred to me that young Laurent might have been blackmailing the old doctor over that car incident which happened five years ago. Kurt had foolishly sought to punish the lad personally—the old doctor wanted the matter hushed up—and so Ben was able to sell his promise.

"From a note," Garde continued, "and a check found in the medical kit unburied last night, it seems likely that the old doctor had decided not to go on as he had been with Ben, constantly being threatened, and having to pay the boy off. He probably told him as much when they got together down on the pier. . . .

"From what I have learned of Ben's character, the boy probably brandished a gun and threatened the old man who stood holding the little, opened bag which contained the note and the check. He might have been in the act of drawing these papers out of the bag when Ben came toward him. In what could have been a reflex act of self-protection, he seized a small knife which was among some other instruments in the bag. A scuffle followed in which the gun went off harmlessly, and the knife blade pierced Ben's throat.

"Ben fell—just about the time Kurt's headlights turned into the club grounds. Certainly in panic, the old man snatched up his bag, picked up the gun and dropped it into the kit; he couldn't find the knife—maybe he decided it had fallen into the water—and he scuttled up the hill, anxious not to meet whoever it was who had just arrived at the club. I don't think he thought about its being Kurt. He should have, but the horror of that minute could have prevented any logical thinking. His only thought was to get to his car—wherever he had left it; in Copeland's drive, maybe—and go home.

"He was dreadfully troubled, of course, by what had happened, but his first concern, being the stickler for propriety that I understand he was, was to keep the Lillard name

Report Reveals Illinois Banks Largest Lenders to State's Farmers Last Year

Again in 1956, Illinois farmers met the bulk of their credit needs through loans from their local banks, according to E. A. Hon, cashier, Gallatin County State Bank, Ridgway, who represents the Illinois Bankers Association as a Pope-Saline-Gallatin-Hamilton Counties Key Banker. During the year, the state's banks remained the leaders in farm credit service by providing far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he noted.

Using figures from the sixteenth annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Hon pointed out that on January 1, 1957, Illinois banks had a total of $296,168,000 in loans outstanding to farmers, compared with $291,690,000 a year ago. On the same date, $168,663,000 was held in Illinois farm loans by insured companies, the second largest lender to the state's farmers: $88,503,000 was held by Federal Land Banks; $42,016,000 by Production Credit Associations; and $17,581,000 by the Farmers Home Administration.

The shift to comparatively greater use of real estate credit for capital improvements and production purposes is indicated by estimates that over one-half of all farm real estate loans are now used for production and operating expenses, new machinery, improvement of livestock herds, and the like.

A further reflection of bank efforts to meet increased needs for intermediate-length loans is the substantial portion of production credit outstanding at the beginning of 1957 which carried a repayment period of longer than one year.

Mr. Hon stated that "these investments made through use of longer term bank loans have contributed substantially to the efficiency and progress of Illinois agriculture."

Mr. Hon commented especially on the greater use of bank real estate credit, which increased 3 per cent during the year, in relation to production loans. "The increase in farm capital requirements to the present very high levels," he said, "has created a growing need for loans with longer repayment periods, particularly intermediate-term loans longer than 1 year. At the same time, there is a high borrowing capacity in farm real estate on which farmers could draw for non-real estate

As soon as an order for life preservers is filled by the supplier, the department said, preservers will be available at all the areas on a rental basis for all state boats rented by the public and for owners of private boats.

The areas affected include Anderson Lake, Beaver Dam, Fox Ridge, Grand Marais, Horsehoe Lake, Kickapoo State Park, Lake Argyle, Lake Murphysboro, Lake Ramsey, Pere Marquette State Park, Rice Lake, Red Hills State Park, Starved Rock, Wolf Lake and Weldon Springs.

As soon as boats are available, the new regulations will be extended to Lake Le-aqua-na, Lincoln Trail State Park and Siloam Springs.

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

1816 Was Really A Year Without Any Summer

THERE ARE lots of expressions like "it'll be a cold Fourth of July" or something like that to express a likelihood of an impossible thing happening.

But if one lived back in the year 1816, a cold Fourth of July wasn't so funny. It was downright serious. Downright calamitous.

Got a copy of an article in the Casey Daily Reporter which told about that freakish year. Said the item:

"FREAKS in the weather have always been a subject of interest. Recently information came to light that the year 1816 really was a year without a summer. A clipping from 'The Pioneer' refers to the freak year as follows:

"January and February were warm and springlike. March was cold and stormy. Vegetation had gotten well under way in April when real cold weather set in.

"Snow and sleet fell on 17 different days in May. In June there was either frost or snow every day but three. July was cold and frosty. August was worse, for ice formed nearly an inch thick and killed every green thing in the United States.

"In the spring of 1817 corn which had been kept over from 1815 sold for $10 a bushel for seed only

"January was so mild most people allowed fires to go out . . . by the first day of May the temperature was like winter. The young buds were frozen stiff and ice formed half an inch thick on the ponds and rivers. Corn was killed and corn fields were planted again and again. By the last of May everything had been killed by the cold.

"June was the coldest month ever experienced in this latitude. All fruit was destroyed. Snow fell 10 inches deep in Vermont and on July 5 ice was one-fourth inch thick throughout New England. August proved to be the worst month of all. There was great privation and thousands of people would have perished had it not been for an abundance of game."

NOTE to the anonymous sender of the letter signed "A Mother": I know of the case of which you speak and know that it is most deserving. Any money received can be used, I know. But there are many cases where deserving persons are in debt because tragedy struck or because of prolonged illnesses, and it would be hard to draw the line as far as The Register inquiring a public appeal for funds.

In rare instances a public drive might be feasible, but developments might be awaited in this instance. If the writer of the letter or groups desired to start collections, that would be fine, and if publicity were desired, it would be given. And if the writer would like to talk to me further about the matter, I would be glad for her to contact me.

Select Girls to Attend State Fair at 4-H Economics Show

The annual Saline County 4-H clubs' home economics show was held Wednesday and six 4-H girls were selected to represent Saline county at the State Fair 4-H show Aug. 16. Two other girls also had their dresses selected to be sent to the state show for exhibit.

Selected to model their dresses at the State 4-H show were Peggy Barker of the Eldorado Busy Workers club, Mrs. Kenneth Behnke leader, and Georgianne Tanner, Harrisburg, Chatterbox club. Mrs. Leo Fowler leader. Selected as alternate model was Loralea Taylor, Blue Ribbon club of Stonefort, Mrs. Sim Richerson, leader.

Clothing to be sent for exhibit, selected on the basis of construction, were made by Susan Baker, Junior Homemakers club of Harrisburg, Mrs. Louie Gaskins leader, and Charlotte O'Keefe, Carrier Mills Sewing club, Mrs. Pete Holmes leader.

Sue Taylor, Garden Heights 4-H club, Mrs. Joseph Smith leader, was selected to give her foods demonstration at the State show. Sue had a tasty and colorful deviled egg demonstration.

Ruth Ann Bramlet and Susan Baker, Junior Homemakers club, will also go to State in foods to attend classes, but will not demonstrate.

Farmers' Price-Cost Ratio Is More Favorable, Gov't Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The well-being of American farmers as a whole went up last month. Their prices increased. Their costs went down.

The Agriculture Department's monthly price report Wednesday showed prices farmers received for crops and livestock crawled up 1 per cent in the month ended July 15. This was due largely to higher prices for livestock, poultry, eggs and dairy products.

At the same time prices paid by farmers for goods, services, interest, taxes and farm wages dropped one-third of 1 per cent.

This caused the parity ratio between prices received and prices paid to rise to 85 per cent. The ratio in mid-June was 82 per cent. In other words farmers were better off last month than the month before.

The report showed that the parity price has increased from 86.5 cents a pound last February to 86.96 cents. It could make the new price set at rate of 85.51 cents.

This means an average of about $1.45 cents a bushel in the price support loan rate.

Tomato Exhibit At Court House

All the produce exhibits are not out at the fairgrounds.

Right there in the middle of the main floor of the courthouse, where the corridors intersect, are two tomatoes on exhibition.

Explanatory material on the table with the tomatoes reveals that a big one, the size of a good-sized fist, was grown by Trafton Dennis, county judge; that the other, the size of a cherry, was grown by C. R. "Pete" Gardner, county superintendent of schools.

Gardner was in Champaign today attending a school meeting and was not able to defend himself.

Acting quickly on another log-jammed item, the Senate also sent to a Senate House conference committee the foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate agreed to act on the money bills after the White House warned further delay might jeopardize military payrolls.

In its statement the White House said:

"There is now no legal authority to meet the payroll for services rendered for about 1,250,000 civilian employees and about 2,800,000 military personnel."

"Military disbursing officers throughout the world will have no authority to pay servicemen being mustered out of service."

The Western horse show takes over the center of attraction at the Saline county fair tonight and it'll be a big bargain night for fairgoers.

The fair association announced that admission price to the grounds will be a dollar a carload, that admission will be free to general grandstand seats and that the price for reserved seats will be cut to fifty cents.

This cut-rate deal also will apply to the Society horse show Friday night.

Tonight's Western show will include eight events and will start at 8 p.m. The events are:

Western Equitation for Men;

Western Equitation for Women;

Western Parade; Western Pairs;

Western Flag Race; Handi Horse;

Rescue Horse.

Tickets will be awarded first place winners and there will be cash premiums offered through seventh place in the events.

Following the Society horse show Friday night, in which there will be nine classes, the fair will wind up Saturday evening with the annual Saline County Beauty Pageant.

The price report predicted the basis for a mandatory boost in the price support rate for 1957 crop cotton.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson announced in February that the support rate would be not less than 20.15 cents a pound for producing 7.3-inch base grade or 77 per cent of the cotton parity as of the start of the marketing year Aug.

Best—and most enthusiastic—crowd yet at the fair went out Wednesday night to see Jack Koch man's Daredevils. The fine crowd went to see daredevil stunts performed in automobiles and it was not disappointed.

The report showed that the parity price has increased from 86.5 cents a pound last February to 86.96 cents. It could make the new price set at rate of 85.51 cents.

This means an average of about $1.45 cents a bushel in the price support loan rate.

House Group Votes To Restrict Overseas Trials

Senate Approves Defense Funds By Voice Vote

Removes Chances Of Armed Forces Payless Paydays

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate completed belated action on the $33,750,850,000 defense appropriation bill for the fiscal year which began July 1. That removed any chance of payless paydays in the armed forces.

The action was taken by voice vote after the Senate had temporarily sidetracked the civil rights bill, which has blocked consideration of other measures since July 8. Approval of the Agriculture Department's appropriation also was scheduled for today.

Both of these departments and a number of other government agencies had no clear cut authority to spend money after a one-month stopgap spending bill expired Wednesday night. There was no indication of how soon spending authority would be given the other agencies. A new stopgap bill, passed by the House Tuesday, was lining up in the Senate by parliamentary obstacles related to the civil rights bill.

Except for the Small Business Administration, most agencies were expected to be able to find ways to get along for a couple of weeks even if the Senate didn't act.

Acting quickly on another log-jammed item, the Senate also sent to a Senate House conference committee the foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate agreed to act on the money bills after the White House warned further delay might jeopardize military payrolls.

In its statement the White House said:

"There is now no legal authority to meet the payroll for services rendered for about 1,250,000 civilian employees and about 2,800,000 military personnel."

"Military disbursing officers throughout the world will have no authority to pay servicemen being mustered out of service."

The new legislation would require the civilian secretary of each armed service to determine in all cases involving U.S. servicemen accused of crimes abroad whether the U.S. government has primary jurisdiction in the case.

It won't allow the secretary however, to turn the case over to foreign jurisdiction under "unusual circumstances." What these unusual circumstances might be was not defined in the bill as approved by the committee.

Under the present agreements,

U.S. servicemen accused of committing crimes while off duty or while not in performance of duty or are turned over to the jurisdiction of the country in which they are stationed for trial.

The proposed legislation would alter this to require U.S. jurisdiction over all on-duty cases, whether in performance of duty or not, unless the armed service secretary waived this country's jurisdiction.

The Eisenhower administration has already told Congress that it opposes utterly any legislation to modify the status of forces agreements and will "go down fighting" against them.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Three Career Employees Moved Into Lucrative Posts By Reform Laws

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Three career men, one a state house lawyer for 31 years, have been moved into lucrative state posts under fiscal reform legislation growing out of the Hodge Scandal. They are Paul Hansen, 59, and C. F. Aiken, a 25-year state veteran, both of Springfield, and Ted R. Leth, Oak Park, who has been with the State Department of Finance for 14 years.

Hansen came to the State House in the mid-twenties, fresh from graduation from a South Dakota law college. He was employed in the State Legislative Reference Bureau where he has been ever since, until his recent elevation to his new post, superintendent of administrative services in the reorganized finance department. His annual salary will be $13,000, a jump of $5,500.

The new executive who never seemed able to accomplish his ambition to practice law because just as he was ready to make the break from state employment along would come new pay raise, will supervise state purchasing, printing and publicity. He will have supervision over the state printer, the state purchasing agent and the Division of Department Reports.

Hansen who has served under five governors, endeared himself particularly to Gov. William G. Stratton because of his handling of extradition cases as well as editing the Legislative Reference Bureau's weekly digest which lists the play-by-play activity of the General Assembly when it is in session. The digest has a terrific reading public of attorneys, lobbyists, newsmen and business men.

In addition to supervising purchasing, printing and publicity, Hansen also will have charge of the State of Illinois Building in Chicago and the State Property Control Division, formerly under the state auditor. Aiken will be superintendent of Accounting and Leth will be superintendent of the Budget. All three are under State Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth, Joliet.

The personnel moves are the result of the theft and misappropriation by former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City, of approximately $2 1/2 million of state funds and for which the former debonair politician is now serving a 12-15 year sentence at Menard State Prison. Hodge was convicted of juggling state books and of issuing bad state checks.

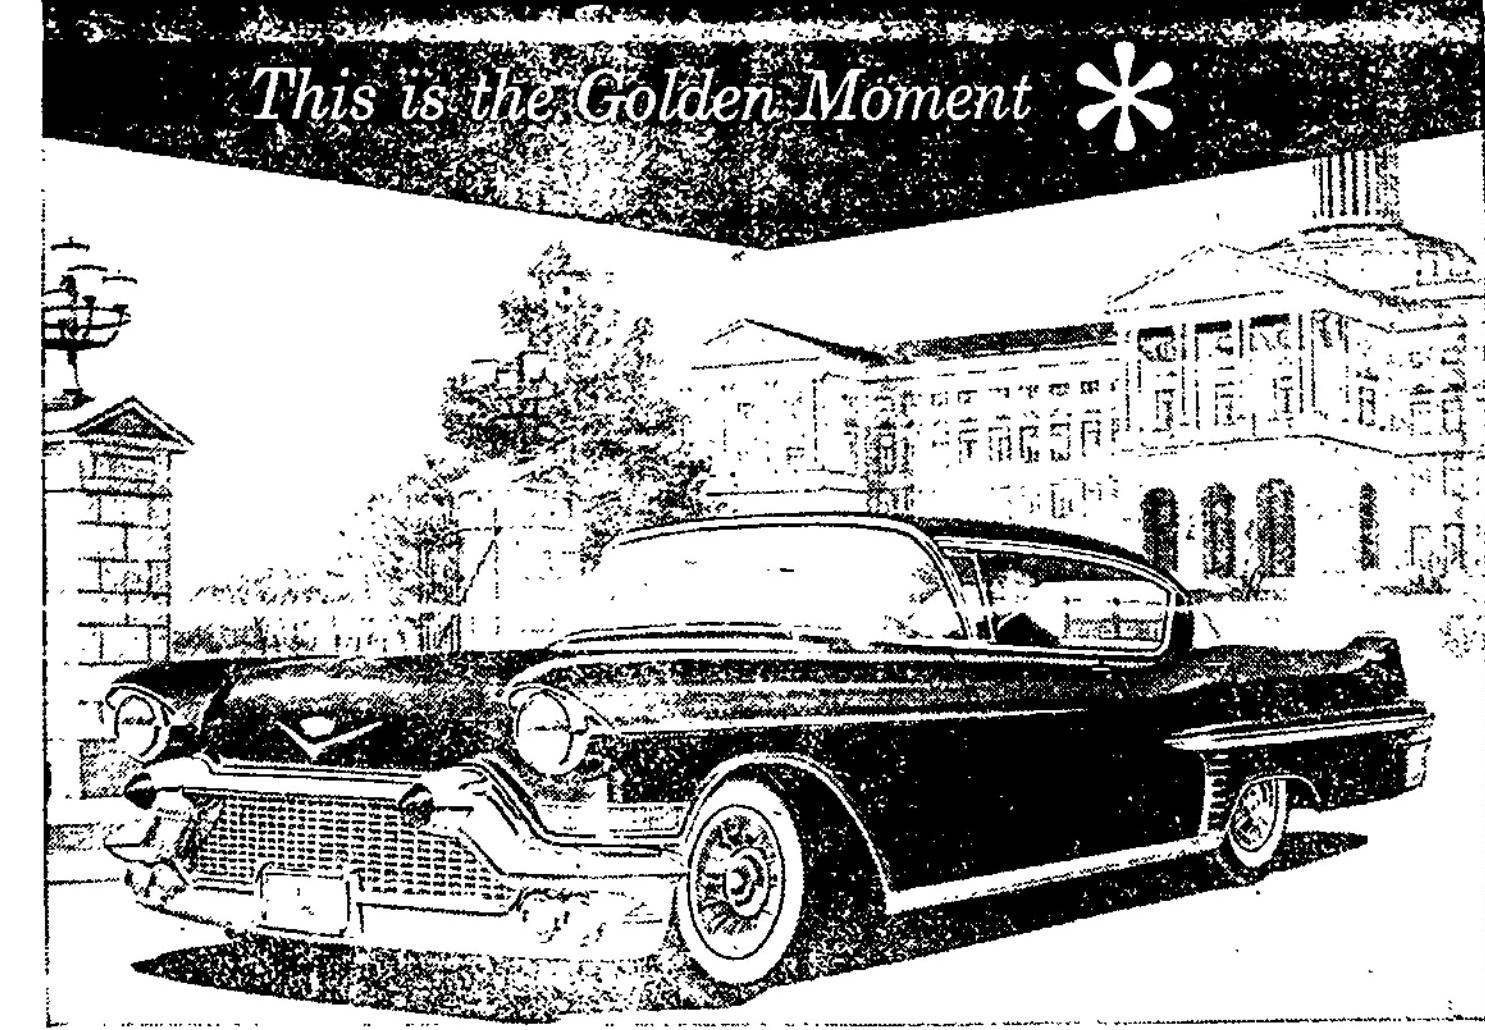

Another reform development of the Hodge expose was the increasing of the bond of the state auditor to $500,000 as compared with the $30,000 formerly required. The recent session of the General Assembly boosted it to the half million dollar mark and the new state auditor—Elbert S. Smith, Decatur—already has complied with the new law requiring the larger bond.

Smith who replaced Hodge as the Republican nominee for state auditor in the November, 1956, election, supported the increased bond in the Legislature. A reason for the necessity for a higher bond is shown by the fact that last month the auditor's office handled more than 300,000 state warrants involving paying out more than $10 million.

There are about 80 other languages in which short passages or collections of passages have been published but, since they lack a complete book, they are not customarily counted in the total.

Three complete Bibles were published for the first time last year in Bemba (spoken in North Rhodesia); Numbi Ijo (Nigeria), and Marovo (Solomon Islands).

There still exist some 1,000 languages and dialects which have no written form and in which not even a single book of the Bible is available.

Alert Scouts

OMAHA, NE — Four Minneapolis youths were convicted of petty larceny after two Boy Scouts complained that they stole their lunch and camping equipment and drove off. The Scouts, having no pencil or paper, scratched the license number of the car in the dust.

BOAT CLUB HAS NEW DOCK—A new 20x80 foot boat dock has been constructed by the Shawneetown Boat Club and is now in use at the club's boat headquarters on the Ohio river at Shawneetown. Several local workers, under supervision of the club's commodore, Rudy Phillips, built the dock at a cost of approximately $3,000. The decking is of two inch fir and is supported by 120 steel barrels held together by a network of welded pipe. Rudy reports that boat stalls will be added to the dock later. In the center is shown the 12x14 house where storage space and rest rooms are located. The club's 50 members and families are holding a fish fry at the river tonight at 7:30. Music and dancing will be part of the program. Members from Gallatin and Saline Counties support the active club.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D., or as they are used to serve God and man.

They probably have the form of their surroundings. Their breadth must be determined by their contact with God and the setting in which they worship. Let us seek to add attractiveness to our souls.

Sometimes we wonder what an artist in Heaven would paint if he were to make a portrait of our soul's bereft of human form. Would our souls be beautiful or gnarled? Would they be colorful, or would they be mere sketches of a skeletal framework?

Our souls could be more interesting than we have made them. They probably take on more color.

Relatively Speaking

DEEP RIVER, N. Y. — Nancy Jo Moody must have as many ancestors as anyone in the state: probably more. Nancy Jo, born May 5, has four grandparents, four great grandparents, one great-grandfather and one great-great-grandmother—92-year-old Mrs. Etta Scott of Watertown, N. Y.

Calling Square Dance Is Hard Work

MEMPHIS — AP — Mrs. Doris Magee, this city's only woman square dance caller, says calling a square dance may look easy, but it's really hard work.

"You've got to memorize and practice," she said. "In fact, you never stop learning."

Despite the long hours trying to get the calls down pat, Mrs. Magee said square dance callers will get mixed up.

"It happens all the time," she explained, "and there's no way to cover it up because the dancers are going every which way."

"The only thing you can do in that situation is shout, 'Grab a girl and promenade,' and start all over again."

"More and more people are learning square dancing every day."

Williamson Fair to Feature Musical Revue

MARION, Ill. — The Williamson County Fair here will launch its second Century of Annual Expositions next Monday, Aug. 5. The 101st fair will headline its program this year with the Barnes-Carruthers Musical Revue, "Spectarama of 1957," which will appear at the fairground at 8:30 p. m., Wednesday, Aug. 7, for a three day stand through Friday, Aug. 9.

The musical revue travelling by rail, which carries a cast of 75 performers with a 24-girl front chorus line, will replace on the fair program the feature attraction of last year's centennial show, "Holiday On Ice" George Riley, comedian and emcee on the NBC show with "Spike" Jones for 88 weeks, will be "Spectarama's" master of ceremonies.

This year's fair which extends through Saturday night, Aug. 10, will feature on its opening night program, Aug. 5, the WLS Barn Dance stars, Homer & Jethro, with Jimmie James and Patsy Kelley, ABC television artists. There will also be a complete western horse show Monday night.

Tuesday night, August 6, the "Movieland Animal Stars," take over for a single night's entertainment. This is a troupe of 50 Hollywood educated animals of assorted variety, including racing buffalo, greyhound racing and comedy performances which play Madison Square Garden during the winter. The show is climax by the running of six thoroughbred horses over a 1957 convertible.

The 1957 edition of the fair will commence its nightly programs at 6:30 p. m., with running races and horse show events occupying the early portion of each evening schedule. The horse show stakes will occur on the Friday night program and the Williamson County Derby will follow on Saturday night.

"Red" McCullough, Bringing the fair to a close Saturday night, will be the championship events of the Egyptian Stock Car Association.

Gov. Stratton Grants Plea of Gangster Touhy

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (UPI)—Gov. William G. Stratton Wednesday commuted the 199-year escape sentence of prohibition era gangster Roger Touhy to three years. However, the governor did not disturb Touhy's 99-year sentence for kidnaping.

Touhy is serving, consecutively, a 99-year sentence for the kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor and a 199-year sentence imposed for breaking out of prison in 1942.

Stratton's action would mean that Touhy should not even start serving the three years for escaping until he had completed the

Herrin Man Told Two Posts are Incompatible

HERRIN, ILL. (UPI)—William Grindle, who is a state senator and a Herrin city alderman, was told recently by Atty. Gen. Latham Castle that the two jobs are incompatible.

But now he has heard a different story from the legal consultant for the Illinois Municipal League.

Thomas Matthews, who represents the league, said the two jobs are not incompatible.

The whole problem stems from the word "lucrative". Grindle said Castle said the job of an alderman is lucrative. Matthews said it is not.

"The whole situation is pretty confusing," Grindle said. He added that he does not know whether he should give up one of his jobs. Grindle said he will try to get the "feeling of the voters" in his Herrin city ward before doing anything. He's also going to consult with the Herrin city attorney. Grindle also says he'll talk to fellow city aldermen to see what they think he should do.

Grindle will probably not make any decision before the next regularly scheduled council meeting Aug. 12.

99 year sentence for kidnaping. However, Federal District Judge John Barnes, of Chicago, has ruled that Touhy was sent to prison on the kidnap charge on perjured testimony.

Touhy, therefore, hopes to have the kidnap sentence set aside.

He could then serve the three-year sentence, with time off for good behavior, and be released.

Stratton said he was following the recommendation of the state Pardon and Parole Board in the Touhy case.

The board found, a Stratton aide said, that the sentences imposed on Touhy had been "unduly harsh."

Unless some further action is taken on the 99 year sentence for kidnaping, Touhy could not be released, with time off for good behavior, until about 1987.

In his petition for executive clemency, Touhy asked only for commutation of the 199-year sentence.

Stratton granted Touhy's plea just one day after he denied a similar appeal by thrill killer Nathan Leopold.

Kaufman 120 Acres Sells for $24,100

The 120 acre Kaufman farm located in Equality Township near the B. & W. Coal Mine was sold to the highest bidder Saturday at a Master in Chancery sale conducted at the front door of the courthouse.

The sale price was $24,100 paid by Anton Fromm. Wm. Wood served as auctioneer and Charles W. Phillips as attorney in the proceedings. Oil and gas rights on 80 acres were not included.

Veterans Compensation Will Not Reduce Social Security Disability Payments

E. Bishop Hill, district manager of the Harrisburg social security office declared today that a long disabled worker now has until the beginning of July 1958 to file an application for the "disability freeze" and still have his social security earnings record protected as of the date he actually became disabled. He said also that the law now permits a veteran to receive compensation from the Veterans Administration for service-connected disability without any reduction in the amount of his disability insurance benefits under social security. These changes, significant to persons who have been disabled for some years and to those with service-connected disability, became effective when President Eisenhower signed Public Law 109.

The amendment relating to disabled veterans modified the "offset" provision in the law so that a social security disability insurance benefit will not be reduced because of compensation payable to a veteran by the Veterans Administration for his service-connected disability. Mr. Hill pointed out that the offset continues to apply in cases involving veterans' pensions which are paid on account of nonservice-connected disability.

Stratton Grants Stay of Execution

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Gov. Stratton has granted a 60-day stay of execution to George Kelly, 30, who was scheduled to die Friday in the Cook County electric chair.

In a telephone call Wednesday to Warden Jack Johnson, Stratton ordered the execution delayed until Oct. 2 pending a review of Kelly's case by the state Pardon and Parole Board.

Kelly was convicted of murdering Robert Gottstein during a 1956 holdup at Gottstein's tavern. Kelly claimed he shot in self-defense.

Kelly said the case did not merit the death penalty because of conflicting testimony during his trial.

Rackets Hearing

Witness Links Racketeer to Special Assignment for Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A witness told the Senate Rackets Committee today that Johnny Dio, the racketeer-hoodlum, once worked on a "special assignment" for David Dubinsky's Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The testimony was given by Lester Washburn, who kicked Dio out of the AFL's Auto Workers Union in 1954 but had to quit as its president when the union executive board overruled him.

Dio has been tagged by the committee as a close personal friend of James R. Hoffa, vice president and heir apparent to the giant Teamsters' "nion."

Washburn testified that Dio's assignment for the garment workers was in a Roanoke, Va., plant which had resisted organizing efforts by Dubinsky's international union. This was back in 1950 or 1951, close to the time when Dio first moved into the auto workers, he said.

Later — in 1952 — he complained to Dubinsky about Dio's association with the garment workers, he said.

At the time, Washburn said,

Earl Patton

Gets IPC Post

Earl Patton, Eldorado native and former superintendent of the Shawneetown elementary school, has been appointed assistant director of the Illinois Curriculum Program.

Patton, director of instruction in the Kankakee school district for the past two years and a member of the Kankakee school system for four years, has been granted a two-year leave of absence to accept the IPC post.

The IPC work will occupy about three-fourths of Patton's time and he plans to devote the remainder of his time to complete his Doctor's degree at the University of Illinois.

The Illinois Curriculum Program is a top-level agency in developing improved educational programs in the state's schools.

It is sponsored jointly by the Illinois Office of Public Instruction and the University of Illinois. It develops curriculum programs and guides through study, experimentation and evaluation.

The IPC is about to release a kindergarten guide and expects to release guides in art and arithmetic before the year is over. Another is scheduled covering practical research processes for classroom teachers.

Patton received his bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University and his masters at the University of Illinois. He has completed about three-fourths of his work for the degree of Doctor of Education.

He has taught in the Eldorado, Salem, Virginia and Shawneetown schools and was graduate assistant instructor in history at SIU before going to Kankakee.

NEW YORK—(UP)—One expert says the average family uses air conditioner is expected to claim only binders rather than helps the inmate, warns William Nessell of air conditioner do its summertime Minneapolis Honeywell. It is important to understand the functions of the cooling system and to normal activities in the home, can, and too often do, contribute give it cooperation when the weather is hot and muggy, he explained.

Nessell offered these suggestions:

- When you cook on a hot day, turn on the kitchen ventilation.
- The automatic clothes dryer should be vented to the outdoors throughout the sweltering season.
- Iron on a cool day or late in the evening. At these times the south and west sides of the house, the cooling system will have more capacity to keep venetian blinds, shades or draperies drawn without difficulty.
- Pick a cool day—or at least the coolest part of a warm day—to mop floors, wash furniture or perform other cleaning operations that require water.
- Set the thermostat controlling the cooling system at a level agreeable to the family—and leave it there.

Report Reveals Illinois Banks Largest Lenders to State's Farmers Last Year

Again in 1956, Illinois farmers met the bulk of their credit needs through loans from their local banks, according to E. A. Hon, cashier, Gallatin County State Bank, Ridgway, who represents the Illinois Bankers Association as Pope-Saline-Gallatin-Hamilton Counties Key Banker. During the year, the state's banks remained the leaders in farm credit service by providing far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he noted.

Using figures from the sixteenth annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Hon pointed out that on January 1, 1957, Illinois banks had a total of $296,168,000 in loans outstanding to farmers, compared with $291,600,000 a year ago. On the same date, $168,663,000 was held in Illinois farm loans by insurance companies, the second largest lender to the state's farmers; $88,503,000 was held by Federal Land Banks; $42,016,000 by Production Credit Associations; and $17,581,000 by the Farmers Home Administration.

The total of farm credit outstanding in banks was made up of $241,369,000 in production loans and $54,799,000 in farm mortgages.

In addition, Illinois banks held $63,459,000 in C.C.C. paper not included in the above total.

Mr. Hon commented especially on the greater use of bank real estate credit, which increased 3 per cent during the year, in relation to production loans. "The increase in farm capital requirements to the present very high levels," he said, "has created a growing need for loans with longer repayment periods, particularly intermediate-term loans longer than 1 year. At the same time there is a high borrowing capacity in farm real estate on which farmers could draw for non-real estate purposes."

"The shift to comparatively greater use of real estate credit for capital improvements and production purposes is indicated by estimates that over one-half of all farm real estate loans are now used for production and operating expenses, new machinery, improvement of livestock herds, and the like."

"A further reflection of bank efforts to meet increased needs for intermediate-length loans is the substantial portion of production credit outstanding at the beginning of 1957 which carried a repayment period of longer than one year."

Mr. Hon stated that "these investments made through use of longer term bank loans have contributed substantially to the efficiency and progress of Illinois agriculture."

Mr. Hon reported that 814 of the 922 insured commercial banks in Illinois served agriculture by making farm loans during 1956.

Water Safety Regulations in 20 State Areas

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The state Conservation Department today announced it is placing in effect this week a program of water safety regulation at more than 20 Illinois recreation areas.

The program includes rules that each occupant of a boat must be equipped with a life preserver and a strict prohibition against overloading of boats.

Penalty for violation of the rules will be expulsion from the area.

As soon as an order for life preservers is filled by the supplier, the department said, preservers will be available at all the areas on a rental basis for all state boats rented by the public and for owners of private boats.

The areas affected include Anderson, Beaver Dam, Fox Ridge, Grand Marais, Horseshoe Lake, Kickapoo State Park, Lake Argyle, Lake Murphy'sboro, Lake Ramsey, Pere Marquette State Park, Rice Lake, Red Hills State Park, Starved Rock, Wolf Lake and Weldon Springs.

As soon as boats are available, the new regulations will be extended to Lake Le-aqua-na, Lincoln Trail State Park and Siloam Springs.

Garde stood still at the door; the room was a small and pleasant one, its walls book-lined, the tall windows shuttered from within. There was a small marble fireplace, now filled with a spread fan of gold-colored paper. The carpet was green and worn. The doctor's desk and leather chair filled most of the floor space. Nan sat on a leather couch. There was one other chair.

Garde came into the room only far enough to close the door behind him. "It is very important, sir," he said gravely, standing tall and strong against the dark wood. Nan watched him closely; her hands still holding her pencil and tablet.

Garde told them briefly of the immediate events. "It has to do with Kurt," he said at once. "Last night some new evidence was—er—dug up. Literally. A bag which the old doctor had entrusted to Valley to keep it away from the police—he had buried it under the hedge. Then, last night, for her own reasons—she dug it up and showed it to me. This morning we took it to Mr. Peredee and then to the county court. I truly believe that now we know the truth of what happened on the night of Ben Laurent's death."

Nan's red-lined tablet slid to the floor with a soft rustle of its pages. Garde looked sharply at her; she was dead-white, and he went swiftly to her side, sat down and took her chilled hands in his, massaging them gently with his warm fingers. She drew a shuddering breath, then leaned against his arm and soon quieted. But he continued to hold her hands—it seemed right for them to be sitting so, and, in spite of the things to be discussed, happiness enveloped them. Garde knew that happiness as right, and complete; he knew that Nan so recognized it.

Mr. Stanfield sat back in his big leather chair to listen; he held his fingertips nearly together; sometimes the palms of his hands were flat upon each other, sometimes they stretched widely apart, the fingers still touching. His mouth was pursed occasionally; his eyes were always thoughtful.

"The things which were in the bag which Dr. Tom gave to Valley," said Garde, "were of such a nature that I feel we can now reconstruct accurately the events of that night of almost a year ago."

"On that night, it was a Tuesday—the day after Labor Day—Nan here was at home suffering from a cold and reaction from the fight which had taken place down on the pier several nights before. She also was suffering from her knowledge that she must soon go through another painful scene with the man to whom she was engaged."

He glanced at Nan, who nodded. He spoke then directly to Mr. Stanfield. "As a stranger coming into this group of people involved in the tragedy, sir, I have been able to think about the events, and the details, from a somewhat fresh approach."

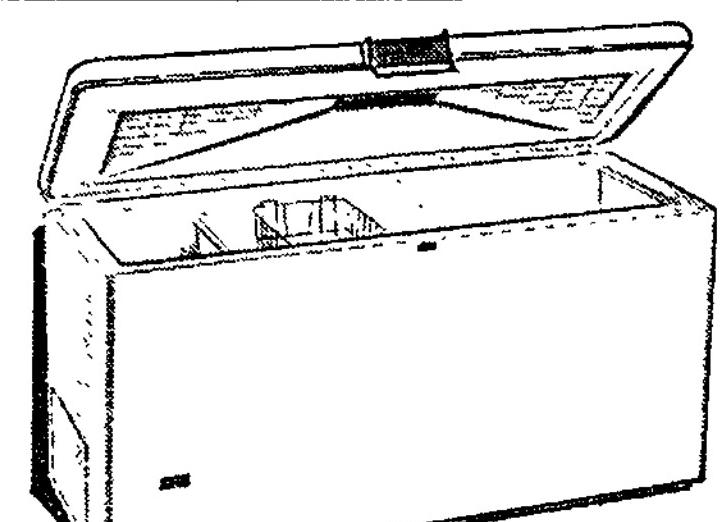

"For instance, it had occurred to me that young Laurent might have been blackmailing the old doctor over that car incident which happened five years ago. Kurt had foolishly sought to punish the lad personally—the old doctor wanted the matter hushed up—and so Ben
